

BRINGING VISIBILITY AND CONTROL TO YOUR TOTAL SUPPLY CHAIN

Logistics Expense Analysis:

Our Logistics Expense Analysis provides a detailed assessment of your current shipping practices and compares them to other, best-in-industry practices. Inbound-related savings opportunities are also taken into significant consideration.

Implementation:

Global Shipping Profile

Your global shipping profile is a detailed report of your company's shipping characteristics. It contains everything from the number of packages your company ships per day to things like delivery density, claim ratio, weight distribution, and everything else required for developing operating and profitability ratios that can be easily compared. These comparisons will help determine the discounts your company deserves. In order to create your global shipping profile, the following services will be performed:

- On-site surveys and data gathering for all tier-1 distribution centers
- A review of all master and local service agreements
- Data gathering from all physical shipping locations
- Gathering of global carrier account numbers
- Receipt of electronic package level detail (PLD) from carriers

Supply Chain Analytics

BridgeNet is able to receive, house, cleanse, and prepare your data in order to determine your company's:

- Distribution characteristics
- Inbound and outbound volumes
- Shipment aggregation practices

Results:

When our initial analysis is complete, we are able to develop an auditing, reporting, and exceptions management plan that is tailor-made to suit your needs. We also implement carrier performance monitoring, facilitating in the timely recovery of any audited savings, and adjustment and assessorial management. Data analytics solutions are enforced by real-time, up-to-date data, and Web-enabled, on-demand reporting reflects not just your current savings, but the areas in which even greater savings may be achieved. Optimized process improvements and high-yield financial analyses also positively affect profit margins, and are made readily available to you.

Comparative Analytics and Benchmarking
